CHRISTINE CARRIER ARTS ANNOUNCES THE TEAM

August 22nd, 2016 New York, NY - Christine Carrier Arts is thrilled to announce its new team: a kaleidoscopic assortment of individuals with multifaceted interests, yet all connect within the CCA team in order to create a strong and professional team.

Jie Zhang (Jay) has recently received his MFA in Photographic and Electronic Media from Maryland Institute College of Art and exhibited his work in the United States and Europe. His work extends the sense of photography and explores the intermediary between multiple imaging making methods. In his most recently work Traces, he features his two-year long documentary work about his wife and friends in an innovative way, in which reconsiders the meaning of photography. Currently, Jie works as Technology Support and Production at Christine Carrier Arts.

Talia Bush currently attends New York University studying Anthropology and Art History. Art has always been her go to: she spends her time basking in the all nooks and crannies New York has to offer with her camera in hand. As a Silver Key winner in the National Scholastic Arts competition for photography, she brings her photographic eye to the team. She lived in Florence as a freshman, and has spent much of her young adult life traveling the world to places like Turkey, Greece, The Netherlands and beyond. Talia brings a worldly perspective to the team, while still engaging in the rich culture that local New York has to offer.

Raquel Sampedro is currently pursuing her BFA in Graphic Design at City College with a plan to acquire her Master's Degree in fine arts. As an art student, Raquel's has a carefully studious approach to things, holding an essential role in the CCA team. She has experience in exhibition management: she has worked on installment, lighting, and media design for art shows. As well as with professionals, Raquel can be found teaching children along with tutoring students in art and substitution for professors when absent. Raquel has a well rounded relationship with art that continues on the legacy of the powerful and strong CCA team.

Christine Carrier Arts is delighted to have Jay, Talia, and Raquel as integral members of our team.
